Applicant has again submitted a defective brief for the following reasons:

1. Issue 1 has been resolved because the amendment filed August 7, 2003 has been entered and the 112, second paragraph rejection has been overcome. Issue 1 was not argued either. See item 5 within the notification of non-compliance of paper No. 18.

2. Appellant sets forth nine issues, the argument section is not separated by separate headings for each issue on appeal. See item 7 within the notification of non-compliance of paper No. 18.

3. Appellant has set forth separate groupings for each issue and effectively states that the claims do not stand or fall together as "each of the above defined groups stand or fall together." Appellant must present arguments in support of the separate groupings. Re the paragraph that argues issue 2, there is no argument as to why group I within issue 2 should be treated as a separate grouping as group I is not mentioned. Also, there is no separate argument for groups II and III. As for the other issues (issues 3-9), issues 3-6 and 9 all refer back to issue 2 where issue 2 doesn't provide an argument. See item 6(b) within the notification of non-compliance of paper No. 18.

4. The appendix is not correct because the word "said" has not been removed from claim 17 in line 4.
